

Spring 2023

GLOBAL HISTORY LAB

"Global History Dialogues" course

This spring the Global History Lab will offer a second course, Global History Dialogues (GHD), which is open to students currently enrolled in the GHL's History of the World course. GHD seeks to expand the range of voices involved in the researching and writing of global history. Using the same networked, blended model as History of the World, GHD trains students in oral history methods and project design. Students, collaborating with each other and with local instructors, develop and answer research questions before carrying out independent research projects. At the end of the course, they share their findings with the class, creating opportunities for students to see and explore connections, parallels, and intersections between their diverse projects. Join our "classroom without walls" again this spring - enroll in the second GHL course, Global History Dialogues, today!

EXPLORE THE GHL COURSES:
HTTPS://GHL.PRINCETON.EDU/

*Listen to the creator of HDP talk about course
here:*

ENROLL THIS SPRING!

HTTPS://GHL.PRINCETON.EDU/

