Travelling by a Car

Potsdam is located within the Berlin motorway ring and is easily accessible via all major trunk roads leading to Berlin.

Northern: Travellers coming from the north via the A24 motorway should change to the Berliner Ring (A10) towards Potsdam at the 'Havelland' motorway junction. Then leave the A10 at junction 25 'Potsdam Nord' and take the B273 federal road directly into Potsdam city centre.

Western: If you are travelling from the west on the A2 motorway, change to the A10 (Berliner Ring) towards Frankfurt/Oder at the 'Werder' junction. Then leave the motorway at junction 17 'Michendorf' and follow the B2 to Potsdam city centre.

Southern: Travellers coming from the south via the A9 motorway can change to the Berliner Ring (A10) at the 'Potsdam' motorway junction. Then leave the motorway at junction 17 'Michendorf' and take the B2 into the city centre of Potsdam

Eastern: If you are travelling to Potsdam from the east on the A13, change to the A10 (Berliner Ring) at the 'Schönefeld' junction in the direction of Potsdam or Hanover.

Leave the motorway at junction 17 'Michendorf' and take the B2 to Potsdam.
