MASTER OF ARTS

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ADMINISTRATION AND POLICY

National and International Administration and Policy offers a unique opportunity in Germany to study Public Administration and Public Policy from an international perspective. Located in close proximity to government and administrative institutions, students analyze key issues of governance, management, and political decision-making. The program combines theoretical foundations with empirical projects and both qualitative and quantitative methods. Elective modules allow for specialization in areas such as administrative modernization, digitalization, global crisis management, or democracy research. The research- and practice-oriented degree qualifies graduates for doctoral studies and careers in public administration, international organizations, NGOs, politics, and media.
