

Programme

‘Multimethodological approaches to synchronic and diachronic variation’

SFB 1287 Project A02

25th – 26th October 2019 at Potsdam University

Location: Campus ‘Am Neuen Palais’, Haus 9, R. 1.03

25th Oct.	01:00 pm	Registration
	02:00 pm	Welcome and introduction
	02:30 pm	Presentation 1 (Alexander Bergs ‘What historical corpora can reveal about the minds of speakers: perspectives from cognitive historical linguistics’)
	03:00 pm	Presentation 2 (Robert Truswell ‘Variation and change in Early Middle English word order: Evidence from the Parsed Linguistic Atlas of Early Middle English’)
	03:30 pm	Coffee Break
	04:00 pm	Presentation 3 (Markus Bader ‘Object-initial sentences in German - Easy to process, difficult to remember?’)
	04:30 pm	Presentation 4 (Jessica Brown ‘Exposure effects and grammatical systems’)
	05:00 pm	Presentation 5 (Martin Hilpert ‘Variable adverb placement in the English passive: It has to be analyzed carefully / carefully analysed’)
	05:30 pm	Presentation 6 (Bill Haddican ‘The non-independence of variants in judgment data’)
	07:00 pm	Dinner in Potsdam

26th Oct.	08:30 am	Coffee & Cookies
	09:00 am	Presentation 7 (Tanja Ackermann ‘Linguistic cases of doubt as a window to language change: German nominal inflection from a multi-methodological perspective’)
	09:30 am	Presentation 8 (Ilaria De Cesare & Sina Bosch ‘Word order variation in German infinitival complements: Evidence from corpus and experimental data’)
	10:00 am	Presentation 9 (Anne Lerche ‘Frequency effects in analogical change: converging evidence from corpus and experimental data’)
	10:30 am	Coffee Break & Poster Session <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Samuel Bourgeois, University of Neuchâtel • Lisa Gotthardt, University of Edinburgh • Anna Jessen & Claudia Felser, Potsdam University • Andres Karjus, University of Edinburgh • Yvonne Portele, Frankfurt University • Mary Robinson, Newcastle University • Jonathan Stevenson, University of York • Ivaylo Youmerski, University of Edinburgh
	11:30 am	Final Discussion
	12:30 pm	Lunch Break
	13:30 – 16:00 pm	Time for individual meetings and planning of future collaborations