Monika Adamczyk-Garbowska is Professor of American and Comparative Literature at Marie Curie-Skłodowska University in Lublin. In the years 2000-2011 she was the Head of the Center for Jewish Studies. She has authored more than 300 publications in Polish, English, French, Russian, Hebrew and Yiddish. Her books include Polska Isaaca Bashevisa Singera – rozstanie i powrót (Isaac Bashevis Singer's Poland: Exile and Return, 1994), Contemporary Jewish Writing in Poland: An Anthology (2001, ed. with Antony Polonsky), Odcienie tożsamości. Literatura żydowska jako zjawisko wielojęzyczne (Shades of Identity: Jewish Literature as a Multilingual Phenomenon, 2004); Kazimierz vel Kuzmir – miasteczko różnych snów (Kazimierz vel Kuzmir: A Shtetl of Various Dreams, 2006); Tam był kiedyś mój dom... Księgi pamięci gmin żydowskich (My Home Used to Be There... Memorial Books of Jewish Communities, 2009, co-editor); Jewish Presence in Absence: The Aftermath of the Holocaust in Poland 1944-2010 (2014, co-editor). She has translated more than a dozen books from English and Yiddish into Polish. In 2004 she was awarded the Jan Karski and Pola Nireńska Prize Award for her research and teaching on Jewish culture and Yiddish literature and language. She is a member of the editorial board of Polin: Studies in Polish Jewry and Studia Judaica. In 2006-2007 as an Ina Levine Scholar at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C. she prepared an anthology of texts from yizker books and conducted research for her project titled "Landscapes After the Khurbn: Survivors' Returns to Poland After World War Two as Depicted in Jewish Memorial Books."
