

Invitation to Conference “The Human Right to a Dignified Existence in an International Context”, 20 & 21 Oct 2017

Dear Sir or Madam,

We cordially invite you to our conference “The Human Right to a Dignified Existence in an International Context”. The conference takes place from 20 to 21 October 2017 at the Human Rights Centre of the University of Potsdam and is going to be held in English.

To realize the right to an existence worthy of human dignity, many other human rights already must be in place. But what are these rights? And what are the most important dependencies or interdependencies between the realization of those rights and dignified existence?

Also, there is no aspect of life and no social sphere that might not at least potentially prevent the realization of the human right to a dignified existence. But what agents exactly can directly violate this right and have a responsibility to uphold it (states, international corporations, human individuals, etc.)? And what kind of responsibilities and duties are these and how far-reaching are they?

For the conference program, please click here.

What: Conference “The Human Right to a Dignified Existence in an International Context”
When: 20 and 21 October 2017
Where: University of Potsdam
The Human Rights Centre
August-Bebel-Str. 89
14482 Potsdam
Germany

To register for the conference, please contact sekremrz@uni-potsdam.de.
The conference fee is 20€ (10€ for students).

We look forward to seeing you soon in Potsdam!

Please feel free to forward this e-mail to anybody who might be interested in joining the conference. Thank you.

Best regards,

Logi Gunnarsson

sekremrz@uni-potsdam.de

www.uni-potsdam.de/mrz